

The Nanny and The Master

by HuffPride

Category: Harry Potter

Language: English

Characters: Draco M., Ginny W.

Status: Completed

Published: 2016-04-12 16:37:49

Updated: 2016-04-24 13:28:05

Packaged: 2016-04-27 19:14:22

Rating: K

Chapters: 10

Words: 8,403

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: A story from my one shot The Nanny. What will happen when Ginny is hired as a Nanny for The Malfoy family, What will she do when a huge secret is revealed? How does the Weasley Family become indebted to Lucius Malfoy? Rating -K, may change later on! (Draco & Ginny)

1. Chapter 1

A/N I do not own no part of this story but the imagination to put the storyline together, the world & characters belong to JKRowling.

The Nanny.

Ginny woke up to her 7.30 alarm, looking around her tiny bedroom in the burrow she was hoping today's assignment was sweeter than Yesterday. Ginny Weasley had become a Magical Nanny, she needed the money to save enough to go on tour with the Holyhead Harpies. Normally she would have had enough but she had only trained with them for one Term and played in 3 games, she was halfway towards her goal. Walking to her wardrobe, she pulled on her Nanny uniform, provided by the company, she started making her way downstairs.

"Morning Mum, have you seen my mobile? Please tell me Dad hasn't take it apart again, im due a new long term assignment today"

"It's on sideboard, where you left it" Molly answered bringing her Daughter a cup of tea and some toast.

"Thanks Mum".

Ginny scoffed down her breakfast and left for the fireplace, her new 'Client' was at the other side of town. They needed her from the hours of 8am-6pm, cooking, cleaning, daily routine of the two children and to plan any general activities for the children, as well as School pick up, drop offs and anything in between. For this job

Ginny had to complete a vigorous exam both Physical and paper. Of course she passed with flying colours.

Landing at the office, Ginny was given an address, she thought it looked familiar but not wanting to be late she thanked the receptionist and floo'd from there. Coughing and spluttering, Ginny all but hoped the new Family had not seen that... Nope they had. As soon as the thick smoke from the chimney disappeared, Ginny came face to face with Draco and Narcissa Malfoy.

Reading her 'Calling card'

"Greetings and Thank you for choosing Nanny999 for your Nanny emergencies, I am Ginny, how I may of Service".

She felt so embarrassed having to say this, normally it didn't matter, but this was the first family she had actually heard of that she was working for.

"Hello Ginny" Draco said with a smirk, "The children are at School today, your job is, to take them to Andromeda's house for 9am and pick them up at 3pm, im sure you know how to cook and clean, please do so. Mother is out of town on Business for the next 6 weeks that you are employed. Tea is at 5pm, See you tonight" With that her apparated to his office.

"Follow me" Narcissa led the way to where the children were.

The room was long, with brown floral wallpaper, wooden floorboards, a stone chimney breast above this was the Malfoy family crest and a long table. Ginny noticed a Boy and a girl, both around 5. They both wore a simple Navy Blue uniform. The little girl was curled up in a chair watching her brother who was playing with two Dragons on the floor, as she stepped in closer, she saw Lucius Malfoy laid down playing with the young boy!

"Lucius the Nanny is here" Narcissa walked over and reached her hand out, the little girl, sucking her thumb, sheepishly walked over and hid behind her Grandmother.

"I'm Scorpius Malfoy", the young boy introduced him self with a smile.

"Hello, Scorpius, I am Ginny, your new Nanny" Ginny said with a smile.

"Why hello Ms Weasley, I didn't know you would be the nanny! Has Draco explained to you the situation?"

"Lucius!" Narcissa hissed at her husband, "Don't bore her!"

Ginny noticed the scowl between the two but didn't mention it, what situation was she not to know of? Would she ever find out? Putting this to the back of her mind, Ginny sat crossed legged on the floor.

"What the hell are you doing?" Narcissa hissed yet again.

"I am showing your Grandaughter I am not a threat Mrs Malfoy".

Narcissa felt Cassie let go of her hand and slowly walked towards Ginny, She sat on her knee twirling her hair around her finger, keeping her other thumb in her mouth.

"Cassie won't even sit with Dromeda or Tonks!" Narcissa raised an eyebrow and took her leave, motioning for Lucius to leave with her.

"Miss, why is your hair on fire?" Scorpius asked.

Ginny laughed, "It's not Sweetie, my hair is Orange, life yours is Blonde".

This gave Scorpius something to think about.

"Come on, its time for School, go get everything you normally need to take" Scorpius jumped up and ran for his coat and shoes, Cassie didn't budge.

"You will have to walk with her Ms Weasley, we will be going now, please inform Draco we will see him in several weeks and will owl and floo call" Lucius called to her before Aperature out of the room.

"Ok, come on Cassie, Ginny will help you put your shoes and coat on". Standing up Ginny helped the young girl do just that, she then floo'd to Andromeda's with the two.

"Andromeda Tonks" Ginny called and threw the floo powder down.

"Andromeda" Ginny called, waling out of the floo, trying to dust of the children's clean uniform.

"Hello you two" Tonks said with a large grin "Oh...Ginny, your the new Nanny?" Dora questioned.

"Yes I am, I start this morning" Ginny replied, helping Cassie take her coat off.

"Ok, you need to speak to Mother than, go ahead, she is in her Study" Tonks moved aside.

"Andromeda Hi" .

"Ginny, what are you doing here?"

"Tonks told me to come in, I am the new Malfoy Nanny".

"Oh dear Ginny, you need to speak to Draco or Narcissa, there is something you need to know if you are to work in this family, we wouldn't be as concerned but your like family to us".

Ginny didn't know what to do with this big secret everyone seemed to be skirting around, saying her goodbyes to the children, she owled Draco asking him to come home on his lunch break, she had questions.

2. Chapter 2

A/N I do not own no part of this story but the imagination to put the storyline together, the world & characters belong to JKRowling.

The Nanny and The Master.

Ginny paced the dinning room, she had met the children in this very room this morning. Laid out on the table she had prepared a light dinner of ham salad sandwiches, every other minute she would stare at the fireplace waiting for the flames to roar green, but they didn't, he walked through the adjoining door from the hallway.

"I thought you was floo'ing home?"

"I did, no one is allowed to floo into this room, it scares Cassie. What is it Weaselete? I am a very busy man" Draco growled at her.

"Is that the secret I've heard about, Cassie is scared of the Green flames? Don't call me that Draco!" Ginny tried to remain polite but he wasn't making it easy.

"What secret are you talking about?" Draco walked closer to her.

"Your father asked if I knew about the situation and your Mother growled at him, telling me I didn't need to know, then at Andromeda's house she said I had to ask you, so what is it?" Ginny started to get nervous now, should she have pried?

Picking up his mobile phone Draco called his business partner "Blaise, I wont be in this afternoon, I know im sorry, tell him I will personally see him tonight if needed, yes it's to do with Cassie, come around tonight and ill fill you in." Putting his phone away, he motioned for Ginny to sit down and he joined her.

"Don't worry, Blaise Is the Twins Godfather, he knows everything. Have you yet figured out im a single Father living with my Parents?"

Draco watched her for a response, as she nodded, he carried on.

"I was Married to their mother, Astoria Greengrass, it was magically bounded and arranged before she was born, We married and moved into our York townhouse, she instantly fell pregnant with the twins, the BIG secret is...She used to...Beat up Cassie, I don't mean just a smacked bum or hand, she would Cruaiatus her as young as been 6 months old if she cried or woke up at the wrong time, she would then glamour her and heal her pain for when I came home. I never felt the need to read into her or my Children's mind, only because nothing seemed a miss while myself or my parents were home. One day I came home early, to find Cassie and Scorpius curled up in my warded study whimpering, I comforted them and called for a house elf from Andromeda's, we only have four and at the time they were in France with Mother and Father who were away on Business. I finally used a tear from both Scorpius and Cassie. I proceeded to watched the memories through my own Pensieve. Afterwards I stumbled back, the children knew I didn't know, I healed her best I could and took the memories with me, I carried them both to Severus's house, who healed them both. I informed Aurors to arrest her on site once she appeared home. She was arrested and sent to Mungo's for Insanity. Several members of the sacred 28 want to take the children from us, She told her Father that the Abuse to Cassie was from me."

Ginny put her hand over his, she didn't know what to say but he clearly understood the sentiment.

"So now you know, are you leaving?"

"No Draco, I'm staying, though our shopping isn't due to arrive until after 7pm, so I arranged with Mother we would go there, its just her and Father tonight, Is that ok? You don't have to join us if you don't want? I will not let this secret leave this room either". Ginny waited for some kind of reaction, in all honestly, Draco looked relieved.

"That's fine, im sure the twins will enjoy some homely food, did they go to school ok? Cassie hasn't settled well this week, her nightmares are back." Draco finished his sandwich and allowed her to follow him to the kitchen.

"They went fine, Tonks was there though, I don't know if that helped? Scorpius asked why my hair was on fire too!"

Upon hearing this Draco spat his mouthful of water out, he couldn't help but laugh at this.

"I am sorry Ginny, he has never met a person with Orange hair! Tonks helping out will work, she seems to be able to cheer Cassie up! I don't know what she does, she still won't touch any women other than Mother and it's been over two years now." Draco looked at Ginny's shocked face.

"I sat on the floor once you left this morning and she came and sat on my knee, twirling my hair around her fingers."

"Merlin, can you stay forever" Draco half joked. He had never known Cassie warm to anyone that quick, let alone a female.

Looking up at the time, Draco announced it was time to collect the children, it was a long time since he had picked his children up from School, he was rather looking forward to this.

"Shall we aparate to The Burrow after we have finished homework? You can pack for the next 6 weeks too".

Ginny agreed this was a good idea, she couldn't floo every day just for clean clothes, for the length of time she was staying it didn't make sense. Stepping into the floo, she allowed Draco announce where they were going.

"Tonks Office"

Landing, they saw Tonks at her desk marking.

"Draco! They are still in class your early! Scorp got into another fight again today, with the Nott child, he had overheard Theo and Daphne say it was all your fault and the child stupidly brought it to school, Scorpius broke the boys nose in one punch. We will tell Theo that Scorp has been suspended, but we wont, it wont do Cassie any good for to be without her Twin!"

"Thanks Tonks, I am so glad you all understand" Don't worry, Ginny is up to speed on everything."

Ginny looked around the tiny but full office, books everywhere. Just then a bell rang, she assumed it was signalling the end of School. Both Scorpius and Cassie knew to meet in Tonks office to go home.

"Dad", Cassie ran in and jumped at her father, snuggling into his neck, she started crying and Draco noticed.

"Is this because of the fight Cassie?"

She nodded,

"Shall we talk at home?"

Again she nodded. Draco looked at Scorpius,

"Well done, but your still grounded tonight, don't use your fists, get even".

"Yes Dad, shall we talk about this once Cassie is doing her homework?" he whispered.

Nodding Draco waved at Tonks and walked into the floo with Ginny and the children.

"Malfoy Manor".

3. Chapter 3

A/N I do not own no part of this story but the imagination to put the storyline together, the world & characters belong to JKRowling.

The Nanny and The Master.

Arriving home, Cassie dropped her school bag off in the hall and curled up in the throne like chair next to the fireplace. Scorpius watched her, then motioned for his Father to the Study.

"Ginny, can you just watch her please, once she is ready she will talk, she may want to go to the burrow if you ask her?" Draco whispered into her Ear.

Feeling him so close caused goose pimples, shaking herself she encouraged Cassie, to come to the Burrow Ginny had already checked at the two had no homework today. If they were early enough, Cassie could help make tea, this she liked very much.

Draco watched as the green flames died down, walking into his study he glared at his son, this wasn't the first time Draco had to speak to Scorpius about 'Defending her honour'.

"I know Father, get even, but I must say it was for a purpose this time, last week Lucas Nott said that Theo and Daphne were talking about a Magical Initiation, about they needed her. I hadn't heard of this before, I presumed it was dark or I would have done, so I thought about the best person to ask, Grandfather". Scorpius informed his Father.

"Did my Father tell you what it was, is that why you punched him?" Scorpius nodded.

"Did Grandfather Lucius ask why you were asking him?" Scorpius shook his head

"Ok, we will floo call your Grandparents after tea and inform them of the situation". With this new information, Draco was worried, very worried in dead.

"Father, this initiation, will it be like accepting to be a Death Eater".

"Scorp, we will talk later when we have spoken to Grandfather, come on, Mrs Weasley is supposedly a great cook, lets go find out shall we!"

"The Burrow".

Stepping out from the fireplace, Draco saw Cassie sat down in the corner, still looking lost in thought, he looked towards Ginny who shook her head.

"Mr Weasley, can the children please play in your WARDED garden until tea time please?"

With this Cassie looked up, she didn't know the place was warded and instantly felt safe. Mr Weasley nodded his head and showed the children to the back door, leaving it open for the women to keep an ear out, whilst peeling potatoes the two women watched them through the window.

"Mrs Weasley, may I please use your fire to floo call my parents?"

With permission Draco walked into what seemed like an empty bedroom, a single bed and a brown wardrobe only in the room.

"Malfoy house, France... Hello Mother, Father, we need to talk. Father do you remember telling Scorpius what a Magical Initiation was? Well he got into a fight today with Lucas Nott AGAIN. He had overheard Lucas bragging that Theo and Daphne knew of a Magical Initiation that was to take place... for Cassie"

Waiting for a reply that didn't come,
>"I'm at a loss, how do I stop this? How do I protect my little Cassie? Please I need your help".

Draco had never begged in his life, Draco had it drilled into him from birth that a Malfoy does not beg, today he was begging, he couldn't save his daughter last time but Merlin knows, no one was hurting her again.

"Draco, all I know at this minute is, if Lucas has heard, they plan to take her soon. Unfortunately, we are in a spot of bother with the Ministry of Magic of France and we can't come home right now, I suggest, you kindly impose upon Ms Weasley to move you into her place, just until we can come home" Lucius said all through gritted Teeth. He didn't like that his little Princess was in danger and he wasn't in the country to help. "Also Draco, you can't go to work and the twins to School, Ms Weasley will still be payed as this isn't her fault! We will be home sooner rather than later."

Closing the floo call, Draco rubbed his eyes, it had been a very long day, standing up to turn around, Arthur Weasley was at the door.

"I wasn't spying Draco, only came to inform you tea was ready... I heard about the abuse against Cassiopeia, we will allow you all to move in, if you think it is safe enough."

"Thank you Mr Weasley, normally I wouldn't just impose, but we as Father's do anything for our children".

"Yes Draco, we do indeed."

Leaving the room to ascend the stairs, Draco crossed paths with Ginny, he held her arm to stop her from walking by, he used Legilimency to show her the fire call. Stepping back, Ginny just stared deep into his grey eyes.

4. Chapter 4

A/N I do not own no part of this story but the imagination to put the storyline together, the world & characters belong to JKRowling.

The Nanny and The Master.

Walking through the burrow, Draco couldn't help but feel like he had failed, he vowed after the war, he would change peoples views of the Malfoys. He started by setting up his own law firm with Blaise Zabini, helping those in need from the war. This helped people's views of him, but not how he viewed himself. This change however, happened the day he held his Twins in NICU. He vowed to them he would love them until his last breath and longer keeping them safe.

Looking out towards the Orchard, he felt a hand on his Shoulder, turning around he saw Molly smiling.

"We can only do so much Draco, we can't wrap them in cotton wool, no matter how much we want to. The first time I was in Mungo's with the children was horrible, Fred as broken his wrist and ankle after George dared him to jump from the tree house, this act made Ron laugh so hard he fell back and cracked his head open on the picnic table" Molly was now Smiling.

"Thanks Mrs Weasley, I know what you mean, if I could they would never leave my sight, but I don't want them living in fear like I did as a child." Draco sighed, walking towards the Kitchen. Looking out he saw Scorpius on a Bicycle, and Cassie sat in Ginny's lap whilst she braided her hair.

"You know Mrs Weasley, until this morning, the only female Cassie would allow touch her was Mother, Ginny has a real knack with children. I want to personally thank you, you don't have to let us stay, you don't even have to care, but you do. I am not one for sentiments but as a parent you know we will do anything for them".

Molly only nodded in understanding. Calling Ginny in for tea, Molly watched in awe, such manners two little children possessed. Did she expect any less than a Malfoy child?

"Daddy, why can't I sleep in my princess bed, Grandmother will not stand for this".

Cassie was not taking the news well, to everyone's surprise that she spoke!

"Cassie, can't you for once not argue" Her brother retaliated.

"Now come on you two, Mr and Mrs Weasley are graciously allowing us to stay in their home, please show them respect."

"Sorry" both twins replied in unison.

"Cassie, we are staying here for your safety, the fight that Scorp was involved in today was no coincidence and it was Grandfather who suggested we not go home. Fred and George are Ginny's Brothers, they will be bringing things from your room, to stay here so at least you have things here. Tonks will be sending your work here and Mrs Weasley has very, very kindly indeed offered to school you." Draco informed his children, looking between the two to make sure there was no more cheek.

Once eaten, Draco bathed his two children and read them a bed time story. After tucking the two in bed, Draco changed into something lighter, a pair of jeans and a black v neck t shirt. Sighing at the situation he snuck downstairs, not wanting to disturb his children.

"Are you ok Draco?" Ginny had known him for years but never had he looked so deflated.

"I'll be fine... just at a loss, that's all"

Throwing his head back, Draco sighed, deeply, looking around he noticed Molly and Arthur were in the kitchen. He sat down next to Ginny, he had secretly admired her but he wasn't about to cave, yet!

"Would you like a Firewhiskey?" Ginny asked, pouring herself one.

She passed him the first tumbler then poured herself another one, before they knew it, one turned into a full bottle.

"You have a beautiful Smile Ginny." Draco said looking deep into her eyes.

He took a few minutes gazing at her beauty, leaning in for their first kiss, Draco jumped back,

"An uninvited wizard is here." Draco looked over to Mr Weasley.

"Do you smell that?"

"Hmm, around the back i would say."

The two wizards withdrew their wands and walked toward the back door, Draco slowly opened it, mouth wide open at the witch standing in front of him.

5. Chapter 5

The Nanny and The Master

"Hello Drake" A rather looking dishevelled Pansy walked forward and hugged him.

"As lovely as it is to see you Ms Parkinson, how and why did you break our wards?" Arthur was keen to know!

"Hello Mr Weasley, you wards allowed me access when they saw I pose no threat to you or anyone currently in the house" Turning to Draco "I had to come see you, if she knows I've told you she'll Avada me! Daphne plans to put a claim into the Wizangamot that you are still abusing Cassie, she has Marcus Flint as her Lawyer"

"SHIT" Draco screamed.

Draco knew this was serious

"Once Marcus wins his case, they will push for Daphne to be guardian, but just over Cassie, they have no interest in Scorpius. The initiation will start the night of her 6th Birthday"

"Ms Parkinson, how do you know all this?"

"I am a registered Animagus Mr Weasley, I was actually spying to see... a love interest, when I heard the hushed tones in Three Broomsticks." She turned to Draco "Daphne doesn't know I know, I will still play dumb but try and get more information for you, don't leave here though, I only knew where you were because I called Cissa and told her I had vital information for you, I have already taken an Unbreakable Vow to not give cover... Look, if it comes to it and you are called amongst the Wizangamot, if you play your cards right, you have 3 members of the Order who may back you up!".

Turning to give him a kiss on his cheek, she apparated with a Crack.

"I will Draco, but I don't think Ginny's statement would count, even under as she is technically your employee, I will speak to Molly also" Arthur told him, he patted his shoulder as the two men made there way back to the children.

"Father, who was that?" Scorpius was awake sat on Cassies bed, Cassie was luckily still fast asleep.

Draco looked at his 5 year old with sigh, his children had been through so much already and Scorpius was wise beyond his age.

"It was Aunt Pansy, she came to give me some information, I will tell you, but not now. Know you are both very safe staying here" Draco told him, leaning in to give him a kiss.

Leaving the room, Draco motioned for Ginny to follow him to where he would be staying, sitting on the bed, he relayed the whole conversation to her. His room was very simple, much like the room he had floo called his parents from earlier.

"I thought you and Pansy where... You know?" Ginny asked.

Laughing Draco looked at her "No, no way, Pansy is the sister I never had, she has a thing for shall we say, good guys, not bad!" Shaking his head of the thought, he turned to Ginny, tucking a loose wave of hair behind her ear, he snuggled into her shoulder. Who would of thought, Draco Malfoy, a snuggling type! Before either of them had realised they had fallen asleep, in each others arms.

The next morning the sun shone through the half open blue curtains. Feeling the heat on his shoulder, Draco opened his eyes _'It wasn't a dream'_, he thought. What would she make of this? Hoping to revel in this moment a bit longer, he held Ginny close, smelling the Sunkissed Raspberry shampoo she clearly ad showered in. Running his hand down her very long hair, he had manage to startle her from her dreaming.

"Hey, Morning"...

"Did I really fall asleep in your bed? Draco I am so sorry".

"Don't be, or at least I don't think I am, I have never woken up with a woman in my bed, let alone one as beautiful as you"

With this Ginny blushed a shade of red that nearly matched her hair. Stroking her thumb across his,

"Draco, we shouldn't be found together, I have to go," Looking at her watch, "I'ts just turned 7am, the twins will be awake soon".

If Draco was going to protest her leaving, her last words were making him think she was right. He didn't think Mr & Mrs Weasley would just walk in, his children on the other hand would! Nodding, he gave her a simple kiss on her lips and allowed her to leave.

Once dressed, Ginny went to wake the twins, finding them both sharing a bed, smiling to herself she opened the curtains to the room, walking over to the bed, she gently shook them both and stepped back, not wanting to scare Cassie.

"Good morning sleepyheads!" Ginny said whilst watching them both stir and stretch.

"What would you both like for breakfast?"

Cassie was the first to answer,

"Is Daddy awake? Is he going to work today?" Ginny shook her head

"Can he make us pancakes?"

Ginny did hope Draco was going to make pancakes. This was the most that Cassie had spoken in the last 24 hours!

Taking both of the children's hands, Ginny guided them both downstairs, surprising her, Arthur and Lucius were fixing a muggle TV together, Narcissa was sat by the fireplace Crocheting a blanket, without magic and Draco was showing Molly how to make pancakes how the twin liked them. Ginny couldn't help but realise how muggle Draco looked today, donning a Blue polo shirt, Black jeans and Black Brogues.

Walking the two young ones into the kitchen, she allowed them to sit whilst she poured them some fresh juice, allowing them to eat, she went to watch Narcissa Crochet,

"Would you like something to drink or eat? " Ginny asked both Narcissa and Lucius.

"Thank you Ginny but no, we have been here a little while now and your Mother has very kindly and graciously fed us." Narcissa replied without looking up.

Finishing the row she had started she looked at Ginny,

"Although I did sneak into my son's bedroom at 5am this morning" She said with the signature Malfoy smirk.

She watched Ginny blush the deep red she had not an hour earlier.

As if on time, Narcissa walked to the far window to meet a ministry owl that was flying towards with window with a letter in his mouth.

"Draco, It's here".

Draco opened the letter and read it word for word~

DEAR MR DRACO LUCIUS MALFOY,

A CLAIM OF NEGLECT HAS BEEN FILLED,

YOU ARE TO BE CALLED TO BE INFRONT OF THE WIZENGAMOT

ON THURSDAY 18TH MARCH 9AM,

PLEASE INFORM UPON ARRIVAL YOUR EVIDENCE,

WITNESSES AND THE NAME OF YOUR LAW REPRESENTATIVE.

WE LOOK FORWARD TO SEEING YOU,

MINISTRY OF MAGIC

KINGSLEY SHACKLEBOLT.

"Mother, thats today, in an hour!" Draco was starting to feel panicked now.

"Ok Draco, Me Ginny and Arthur will witness for you, so will Pansy and Blaise, Andromeda and Tonks will but I don't know who will be allowed and who could be classed as tampering." Molly said, walking forward to hug the young man in front of him.

"Father, could I witness via my memories?" Scorpius asked his father.

"I don't know Scorp, but it won't harm to take them, Molly thank you, I extremely appreciate the help you and your Husband are showing towards me and my Family".

Getting his coat and his suitcase together whilst Ginny helped dress the twins, a Crack! Of operation.

"I will witness for you...Draco"

"Thank you, Longbottom.

6. Chapter 6

A/N I do not own no part of this story but the imagination to put the storyline together, the world & characters belong to JKRowling.

The Nanny and The Master.

"Thank you, Neville."

Shaking hand with the Man in front of him, Draco was grateful the witnesses in front of him, were once one the other side from him in during the war, who was there for him now, Blaise and Pansy, Blaise wouldn't be able to testify as his Lawyer AND the Godfather to Cassie and Scorpius. Draco couldn't ask Pansy; after all she had risked everything to inform him of what she had heard and already gave him a heads, putting them at a better advantage.

Draco wouldn't ask for any to witness, if the Wizangamot were dumb enough to think that Draco were to be abusing his two children with the witness of three war heroes then he was certain Flint would have bribed them!

Watching Molly floo the children ahead, Draco straightened his composure and waiting for Lucius.

"Father... We never really saw eye to eye until after the war, even more so when you became a Grandfather... What do I do?"

Lucius had noticed a look on Draco, the same look he had when he had informed his Father of Astoria's actions towards Cassie. Sad and broken.

"Me and your Mother spoke at length last night, If they find any truth in your actions at all, which they wont, unless Flint had bribed someone for false evidence. If they do, we will put a petition in for custody of the children, with this being said, they will still take the children from you until they decide on whom to grant custody. I know Daphne is pushing for just Cassie, but Kingsley won't allow that, which means she will drop the case or accept both. This is where Andromeda comes in, she can not witness for you as she teaches the children, but she knows of a very lovely young witch who is a foster carer, we will push for the children to go stay with her and her Husband, you will be allowed to see them supervised, but you will not be living with them." Twisting his cane on the floor, "We will win this Draco, nobody threatens the Malfoy's like this and get away with it."

Nodding at his Father, Draco walked to the floo,

"Ministry of Magic."

As the green flames grew, Draco arrived to a whirlwind of shouting, Daphne was there, stood screeching at Flint.

"What did I pay you for if it wasn't for..."

"Good Morning Daphne, Flint."

Draco didn't want to hear what he nearly walked into. Going into their waiting room, Cassie was cowering in a corner, with her hands on her ears, Draco blew her a kiss, walked out side and put a 'Silencio' on Daphne,

"You want to take my children from me, but you don't even know that your damn shouting and noise has MY Daughter backed into a corner with her hand over her ears" Draco said, knowing full well the Wizengamot had walked through the entrance.

"We are ready for you now, Mr Malfoy, your Lawyer is already into the court room, please make your way there with your witnesses. Ms Greengrass, Mr Flint, please make your way there once you have settled this little...Discussion." Mrs Longbottom said.

Draco didn't know that Neville's Grandmother was apart of the Wizengamot, would Neville still be allowed to witness? He was hoping so. Walking in to the court room, there was a chair in the middle for the person speaking at one time, a row of seats for the members of the Wizengamot and a space where the minister would sit. Draco was up first.

"Please hand over your wand and state your full name."

Handing just his wand over "Draco Lucius Malfoy."

"Mr Malfoy, a claim for Child abuse has been made, regarding yourself and one Cassie Malfoy?"

"Cassiopeia, her name is Cassiopeia.", this annoyed Draco, they knew her shortened name but not her Given name!

"Thank you Mr Malfoy!" The minister looked down at his notes and amended them.

"Please give the full names you are requesting for your witnesses and I will agree or disagree."

"My parents Mr an..

"Disagree on the grounds of the fact they are inner Family."

"Ms Ginny Weasley."

"Disagree, she has been recently under your employment."

"Mr and Mrs Weasley."

The Minister thought for a short while.

"Agreed."

"Andromeda and Nymphadora Tonks."

"Disagree, they both teach your children."

Draco expected these rejections.

"Mr Neville Longbottom."

This caused an uproar in the court room.

"Disagree on the fact he has a member on the Wizangamot."

"Ah but Minister, if I recall correctly, the rules state only for Parents and Spouses, Mrs Longbottom is Mr Longbottoms Grandmother."

Draco was hoping this was going to sway in his favour, even if the minister would still reject his plea for Neville's witness statement, his Grandmother knew Neville would not claim as witness without it been the truth.

"Agreed at this time, Please sit back down Mr Malfoy Ms Greengrass, please hand over your wand and state your full name."

"Miss Daphne Aurora Greengrass."

"Please give the full names you are requesting for your witnesses and I will agree or disagree."

"Mr Harry Potter."

"Agreed."

"Mr Ronald Weasley."

"Agreed."

With this, Daphne sat back down. Draco looked at her with such hate in his eyes, he needed to know what their price was, he hadn't seen either of them since the end of the war and Harry had witnessed on his own accord for Draco. Pansy and Ginny patted his hands, letting him know the both cared. Albeit in different ways, but they cared. Behind him, his Father and Mother had started an uproar, how dare she use two 'innocents' to create this lie.

A/N I do not own no part of this story but the imagination to put the storyline together, the world & characters belong to JKRowling.

The Nanny and The Master.

"This room shall have order" Kingsley bellowed. "Mr Weasley, please step forward, may I remind you, you are under Oath. If found lying, in this certain circumstance, the punishment is Death by a Dementors Kiss."

"I promise on my wand to tell the truth" Ron looked Kingsley straight at the in the eye.

Molly gasped, she had allowed Draco and his children under her roof for just a little over 12 hours, she knew little about the young man, an abuser wasn't one of them. Holding on to her Husbands hand, she allowed the tears to flow freely.

"Ok, we shall start, for the sake of the records, please state your full name please."

"Certainly Minister, Ronald Billius Weasley."

"Very well Mr Weasley, can you please tell me..." Kingsley looked at his notes "What happened the afternoon of the 2nd February?" Kingsley glared intently. He just hoped the young war hero in front of him wouldn't make a silly mistake.

"Of course Minister, I was walking through Diagon Alley, I had just been payed from the Auror training, and I wanted to stop by the Quidditch supply store, maybe the Apothecary to treat Lavender, my girlfriend. I needed some new gloves so that was first on my list. As i was window shopping, I heard shouting, after the war, it wasn't uncommon to here a few choice words in Diagon Alley, I had just met Harry at the Quidditch store. We turned around and saw Mr Malfoy hitting his daughter on her back, with his cane." Ron didn't take his eyes from Kingsley.

"Is this the only time you saw Mr Malfoy hit his Daughter?"

"Yes."

"Gentlemen, do you have any Questions?" Kingsley asked the Lawyers, Flint shook his head but Blaise stood up. Quick firing questions at Ron,

"Mr Weasley, you was in the same year as Mr Malfoy at Hogwarts is that correct?"

"Yes."

"Didn't Mr Malfoy tease you and your friends in school?"

"Yes, but it was m..."

"Would that be enough to want to ruin his life if say, you were offered a vault full of Galleons?"

"No."

"Would you know Mr Malfoys cane, if you saw it again?"

"Yes."

"What colour is his cane Mr Weasley?"

"Black, Just like his Fathers."

Smiling Blaise winked at Draco,

"Mr Malfoy, can you please 'Accio' your cane please?"

Upon request, Draco 'Accio'd' his cane, arriving was a pink cane with a Unicorn's head.

"Mr Ollivander, could you please confirm the owner of this wand within the cane? I do believe you supplied the custom made cane also!"

Mr Ollivander took Draco's wand from the cane, feeling and smelling down the wood.

"10" long, made of Hawthorn wood, Unicorn hair core, this is definitely the wand of Mr Draco Malfoy." Looking at the cane he smiled. "This also belongs to Mr Malfoy, I remember so well because his Daughter had drawn a picture and came in with her Father, asking to make a cane with this exact unicorn, I actually still own the picture."

"I rest my case" Blaise looked at Kingsley, nodding and sat back down.

Sighing, Kingsley hoped it wouldn't come to this, he said what the punishment would be and he was sticking by his decision.

"Mr, Weasley, you knew the punishment and you agreed to the understanding, you are to be sentenced for the Dementors Kiss now, we will clear the courtroom right away."

Everyone left the court room, even his parents. Draco, walked over to Blaise and shook his hand, Cassie and Scorpius were in the holding room with the foster carer, they were to be interviewed straight after Daphne, who was to be interviewed after Harry who was next. Draco saw Pansy kissing Harry on his cheek as they walked back into the courtroom, Harry took his place in the middle of the room. Ginny squeezed Draco's Hand.

"Mr Potter, can you please tell me..." Kingsley looked at his notes again "What happened the afternoon of the 2nd February?" Kingsley glared intently again.

"Of course Minister, I was helping Mr Arthur Weasley dig his garden."

"Did you see anything of Mr Malfoy?"

"No sir, I believe the last time I saw Mr Malfoy, was at his Mother's trial."

Sighing in relief, Pansy left her seat and ran towards Harry.

"You fucking traitors." Daphne yelled across the room.

"Ms Greengrass, for your stupidity of lying, I will close this case and you will given the same fate as Mr Weasley, do you understand?"

Shaking Kingsley's hand, Draco went to collect his children, he was very happy his witnesses didn't have to witness for something that should have never happened. Walking into the waiting room, he had such a smile on his face, he didn't notice his Aunt Andromeda was the foster carer they used.

8. Chapter 8

A/N I do not own no part of this story but the imagination to put the storyline together, the world & characters belong to JKRowling.

The Nanny and The Master.

Looking around for Cassie, he saw her curled up asleep on Tonk's lap. All he ever wanted to do was keep his children safe. Realising his Aunt was a foster carer, at least they had a back up plan that would work in their favour.

"Father?" Scorpius was eager to know what had happened, he was so worried for his sister.

"Are you ready to go back home"

"Home?"

"Yes Scorpius, Home"

Picking Cassie up, he floo'd back to the Manor with his children, going straight to parlour, he knew his mother was already there, he laid Cassie next to Narcissa on her Sofa, Kissing his Mother on her cheek, taking Scorpius with him he headed to his his study, Draco reached up and pulled Scorpius's training broom down, walking out into the gardens.

"Are you ok Scorp?" Draco called, watching Scorpius practice some new dives.

Halting in front of his Father, he looked down.

"Will this ever stop Father?"

Scorpius was wise beyond his years, Draco sometimes forgets he is only nearly 6.

"I do hope so Scorpius, but i will continue fighting until my last breath for both you and your Sister."

After a short while Lucius came down to inform the two that tea was ready. Putting his hand on his sons shoulder, he guided the two back up towards the house.

Walking into the Dinning Room, Draco saw a wonderful sight, Cassie was laid on her stomach colouring in pictures, she wasn't alone, Ginny was also laid on her stomach colouring. Draco was very happy his Daughter was happy with another Female, other than his Mother.

"Dinner is ready, Scorpius, Cassie, please go and wash up" He watched the two run up the stairs, "Are you staying for Dinner?" Ginny nodded,

"I believe the twins need a break, Blaise is engaged to your friend Luna, we both agreed on a Holiday... So if its ok with you, I have spoken to Charlie and we are spending the next two weeks in Romania?"

"Charlie, as in my Brother Charlie?" Ginny all but squealed,

"Yes Ginny, your brother Charlie, we can't head out for another Month or so due to a case coming up but yes we are going to Romania. The children will gain so much from the experience." Draco smiled and kissed his GIRLFRIEND.

Eventually their holiday was upon them. Arriving in Romania, Charlie greeted them at the Airport, for 'Learning' reasons the had flown in a plane.

"Welcome to Romania!" Charlie squeezed Ginny, shook Scorpius and Draco's and he knelt down to Cassie's level,

"May I please have a hug, fair maiden?" Charlie asked, in his hands was a pink fluffy unicorn, he had found in the local shop with the minion Fart Gun, he had handed Scorpius.

"Is that for me?" Cassie asked nervously, as Charlie nodded, Cassie jumped into his arms, squeezing around his neck.

"Thank you Mr Weasley."

Walking to the reserve where they were planning to stay, Charlie listed the names of the Dragons they had currently residing there. Showing the four where they where 'Glamping'.

"I shall be back in an hour, there is a really nice restaurant I would like to introduce you all to, Blaise and Luna will be meeting us there."

With that, Charlie bowed out respectively. Ginny smiled as Scorpius and Ginny were playing with their new toys, she had known the two for just about two months now and this was definitely they happiest they had been, she decided she would unpack for the children, it wasn't fair for them to have to unpack now was it! She left a new shirt and pants out for Scorpius and a new dress for Cassie, both purchased by Narcissa! Unpacking her suitcase, Ginny found an Emerald Green dress on the top of her luggage, lifting the dress up, she noticed that it was a sleeveless Roman goddess style.

"Do you like it?" Draco asked cuddling up behind her.

"Draco, it is lovely, it must have cost you a fortune!"

"Your worth it, get ready we are going to be late."

Charlie met them, he wasn't in a relationship so he had asked if he could escort Cassie to her seat, holding his arm out for her to hold, they made their way to the table where Blaise and Luna were already seated. Shaking hands they all sat down and ordered. The restaurant was Italian, luckily Blaise could interpret the menu for the everyone. In the corner of the room was a pianist sat playing Mozart. Ginny held Draco's hand, he seemed Nervous for some reason.

"Draco sit still!" Ginny Hissed.

Turning to his Girlfriend, he dropped to one knee,

"Ginny, I have known you a very long time and over the last few months we have spent together, I wanted to be with you more and more, you are great with the children and they both love you. I wondered if you would do me honour of being my wife."

"Draco... Of course I will."

He stood up and kissed her on the lips, slipping the ring on her finger. The room irrupted with applause and congratulations. Ginny had made him happier now, than he had ever been, this was the happiest moment of his life since his twins were born. Ginny turned to the two children in front of her,

"Are you ok with this? Me and your Father won't do anything you are not happy with?"

"Oh Ginny, it was our idea, Cassie chose the ring of course!"

Scorpius got up and hugged them both, Cassie just smiled, she was rather engrossed in Charlie's drawing of a Dragon.

9. Chapter 9

A/N I do not own no part of this story but the imagination to put the storyline together, the world & characters belong to JKRowling.

The Nanny and The Master.

Epilogue.

Once back in England, Ginny started her move into Malfoy Manor, she cancelled her plans for the Holyhead Harpies tour she was planning on, instead Andromeda employed her as a flying teacher, it wasn't the same and even as much as she loved been a motherly figure for both Scorpius and Cassie, she didn't plan on staying home all day either. Ginny had already spoken with Narcissa about wedding plans, the wedding was set for the spring, in the Manor's gardens. They decided on a peach and green colour theme, all natural colours, Cassie was to be flower Girl and Scorpius was to be best man. Blaise would have been, but h decided to do the dumb thing and register to be able to minister the wedding.

Their trip back home from Romania hadn't been for long, within two months, they were back out there to help look after an injured Charlie, in the end, he secretly came home for Severus to help heal him, in time he moved in with Severus as a 'lodger'.

Narcissa had already knitted after she heard Luna say she should be expecting more Grandsons within 12 months. Narcissa couldn't keep her excitement, they could only have Draco after several miscarriages, the fact Draco has twins and maybe more on the way fuelled her with so much excitement, she told Lucius that night! Lucius set to work the next day building a large outdoor fort, big enough that it could secretly be classed as a second home. Only the best for their Grandchildren.

Scorpius and Cassie were settling in very well at School, Cassie slowly came out of her shell more and she now had a best friend, Luca Parkinson, Pansy and Marcus Flint's son, when she found out she was pregnant, Marcus divorced her and claimed the boy wasn't hers. Pansy was so ashamed, she had told nobody of her son until after the case, Andromeda hugged the girl and informed her that he would be starting at her school the following week. Luca was nothing like his Mother or Father, he was a shy gentle little boy. Draco was sure this was another reason Pansy ratted out Daphne. Scorpius was flying through his Junior Quidditch team, playing as chaser he was extremely good, he could play professional if he carried on.

Thinking about the last few months, Ginny hadn't noticed the children flood home from School with Lucius.

"Mum, I got an A* on my Flying test."

"Cassie... You called me Mum!" Ginny squealed slightly.

"You are, aren't you? I mean, I've never had one and you're Marrying Dad."

"Of course Cassie, I am your Mum" Ginny replied with tears in her eyes.

"Yes Darling, if you want me to be, I will happily be your's and Scorpius Mum."

10. Chapter 10

A/N I have noticed how the story didn't flow from each chapter. I am now working on this! so please feel free to re-read and REVIEW :)

>

End
file.